Remember pets in November

THE firework season starts with a vengeance in November and eases off at the celebration of new year.

During this time we must be aware some pets don't understand the unpredictable loud bangs and crackles of fireworks, therefore, we must be one step ahead to help them cope.

OSCAR, a mobile pet food home delivery company, is aware of responsible pet ownership and Steven Whitham your local Nutritional Advisor, would like to share a few tips on how to ensure your pet enjoys a happier time during what can be a traumatic season.

Ideally your pet needs a den to hide from danger, although a natural den under a table, behind the sofa or under your bed could be made more secure by putting its own bed in the favourite area. Put at least one item of your clothing in the den to act as a comfort blanket for your pet.

Walk your dog early in the evenings running up to the event – an exercised dog may rest and remain calmer when tired. Make sure your pet is inside and that all doors and windows are closed to quieten noise and stop any possibility of escape. Do not pander to your pet's fearful behaviour with attention or comfort as this may make their behaviour worse.

To help reduce your pet's stress stay calm and relaxed when fireworks go off. Never punish fearful behaviour; this will only make the problem worse.

Never leave your pet home alone – it will feel more relaxed and secure if you are there. To help cats feel secure introduce a covered litter tray and raise its bed off the floor.

Steven Whitham is your local OSCAR pet food Nutritional Advisor; he provides a free home delivery service with a comprehensive range of pet foods, treats, accessories and healthcare products. Supported by nutritional, behavioural and veterinary experts, Steven brings the complete pet care service to your door.
