OSCAR much more than a franchise.

Jane's Oscar prize

THERE were plenty of reasons why Jane Adams wanted to change her life but, as a single mum-of-five, the key one was the long hours that were required for her sales career.

She admits that she didn't always believe in what she was promoting until she discovered leading pet food franchise Oscar. She said: "Something clicked and I realised that working from home with hours to suit would allow me time with my children."

Ms Adams spoke to Oscar franchisees before launching her own franchise in Lichfield, Staffordshire.

She said: "I have a genuine product and service that will bring me a successful business and the reward of a family life balance."
